An overview of all scheduled live-streamed sessions and panel discussions can be found here.

Here are the links to the livestream channels:

Panel discussions
Parallel sessions (except session 3)

General information

- More than 200 central bank researchers will come to present and discuss from countries all over the world in Barcelona from August 29-31, 2022, in 35 parallel sessions.
- On Monday 29, a panel on “High Inflation and Other Challenges for Monetary Policy” chaired by Jordi Galí (CREI-UPF and BSE) and Martin Flodén (Deputy Governor, Sveriges Riksbank), Diogo Abry Guillen (Central Bank of Brazil) and Philip Lane (European Central Bank).
- On Wednesday 31, a panel discussion featuring Deputy Governor Margarita Delgado (Banco de España), Harrison Hong (Columbia University) and Fernanda Nechio (Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco), moderated by Romanos Priftis (European Central Bank).
- The topics discussed, in the context of high inflation and increasing interest rates, are the central discussion on current economic challenges.
- The CEBRA Annual Meeting has been co-organised by Banco de España, the Barcelona School of Economics (BSE) and the Leibniz Institute for Financial Research “Sustainable Architecture for Finance in Europe” (SAFE).

The Program and other information are available on the CEBRA webpage and the Barcelona School of Economics Event Calendar.